SHORTS

I FEEL
SLOVENIA

IN 2015 THE SLOVENIAN FILM CENTRE CELEBRATES ITS TWENTY YEAR ANNIVERSARY.

In 1995 it started operating as the Slovenian Film Fund, and in 2010 it was renamed as the Slovenian Film Centre (SFC).

The successful breakthrough of Slovenian short films into the world film scene started in 1997 with the dance film Vertigo Bird by Sašo Podgoršek, and was continued the very next year by Maja Weiss's Adrian, which received awards in Chicago, Creteille and Sarajevo. Among the shorts, liveaction films were the most successful in the first decade.

Eight films qualified for the competition programmes of the big festivals. Heart Is a Piece of Meat by Jan Cvitkovič (2004), Every Breath You Take by Igor Šterk (2008) and This Is Earth, My Brother by Jan Cvitkovič (2009) qualified for the Venice IFF. The *Balkan Roulette by Zdravko Barišič (1998) and Every Day is Not the Same by Martin Turk (2008) were screened at the Cannes IFF. The Berlin IFF welcomed Child in Time by Maja Weiss (2005), Hop, Skip & Jump by Srdjan Vuletić (2000, Award for Best Short Film of the Panorama Section) and Atorsion by Stefan Arsenijević (2002, the Golden Bear), which, in the same year, also won the Prix UIP European Film Academy Award for Best Short Film and received the Academy Award Nomination for Best Short Film.

The films Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf (2013) by Janez Lapajne, On the Sunny Side of Alps (2008) by Janez Burger, Glazier Blues (2002) by Harry Rag, A Short Anthem for My Country (1999) by Boris Palčič and Solitude for Two – Evening (1999) by Nataša Prosenec were also successful.

Three films, produced by the Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television (UL AGRFT) were nominated for the Student Academy Awards: Wolfy by Matevž Luzar (2007), Trieste is Ours by Žiga Virč (2010) and Where To by Katarina Morano (2014). In 2006 another student film – Good Luck Nedim, directed by Marko Šantić – managed to qualify among the 14 European Film Award finalists.

The second decade brought a renaissance of animation, announced by the film The Beezes: Cherries by Grega Mastnak (which qualified into the children's films programme of the Berlin IFF in 2004). Before it Crossroads (1998) by Franci Slak and Miloš Radosavljević was screened at many festivals. In 2009 the film Chicory 'n' Coffe (2009) by Dušan Kastelic once again drew the attention to the quality of Slovenian animation: it was shown at numerous festivals and received thirteen awards. After that the good condition of animated films was maintained by The Wild Life of Koyaa (2011) and Koyaa – Flower (2014) by Kolja Saksida.

However, a great success was achieved in the years 2013/14 by the short animated film Boles, a favourite of the festival audiences that brought around thirty awards to its directress Špela Čadež since the premiere of this film at the Annecy International Animated Film Festival (June 2013).

It is characteristic of the second decade that the centres producing highquality Slovenian shorts managed to multiply. Due to the increased as well as more varied production you are now looking at the second catalogue that the Slovenian Film Fund has dedicated exclusively to short films. Besides the works produced with the support of the Slovenian Film Fund and films shot by the the UL AGRFT (Slovenian Film Fund also partially cofinances the production of student films), now works are also being produced by the University of Nova Gorica School of Arts, by the Luksuz produkcija production house in Krško where liveaction films are mostly being shot at workshops, as well as by young enthusiasts from the Film Factory in Maribor, independent filmmakers, and so on.

The new production of shorts is being created without the financial support of the Slovenian Film Fund, but it surely needs its help in terms of promotion.

In 2014 the Slovenian Film Fund took the initiative to organise the first night of the short film in several Slovenian cities, taking place in many European cities during the longest night of the year – on the 21st December.

The following catalogue lists the production of short films made between 2014 and 2015, categorised by genres and dates of realisation.

We wish another successful decade to all the authors and producers!

Nerina T. Kocjančič, head of promotion

A story about 17-year-old Anja, one of those pretty and flirtatious girls whose life and self-image depend on the number of likes received in the social media. Overnight Anja becomes a target of a web scandal as someone posts her intimate video clip on the social network. The video clip spreads like a blaze and creates a maelstrom of disgust and ridicule aimed against our protagonist. On the night of her birthday Anja decides to forget the unpleasant emotions by going out to party with her best friend Nina and her boyfriend Peter.

LOVE ON THE ROOF OF THE WORLD

by JAN CVITKOVIČ

Ljubezen na strehi sveta, 2014, DCP/BR/HDcam, in colour, 10 min

A vivacious 80-year-old couple have been together for what has virtually been their whole life. Each other is all they have got, and all that remains are little things and small events. They live in a modest little house with an idyllic old-fashioned rural atmosphere. Next to their house is a small garden with a few chickens and a goat.

During the last scene the camera zooms out. The elderly lovers have built their home in the middle of urbane environment, in the centre of a large city – on the roof of the world.

Their heaven is where they will be buried as well – because coffins do not fit in elevators.

An archaeologist by education, Jan Cvitkovič is first and foremost a director, actor, writer and poet. He has written and directed award-winning features and shorts. He has numerous awards under his belt, including more than 20 Slovenian and international awards for Idle Running (co-writer, lead role); his feature Bread and Milk (2001) was awarded the Golden Lion for the Future; Gravehopping (2005) premiered at the San Sebastian FF and won the Altadis – Best New Director Award; etc.

SCHOOLMATES

by DARKO SINKO

Sošolki, 2015, DCP/BR/HDcam, in colour, 30 min

The night after largescale protests. Tension can still be felt in the air. An elderly gentleman in a taxi cannot remember where he is headed. The taxi driver tries to help him, but the associations he offers keep pushing the old man further into the past, bringing a dispute with his son to life. A sad story about the rift between two worlds, two eras and two generations gradually comes together through the old man's fragmented narration. The old man is a retired professor of Marxism, and his son is a banker.

The taxi driver does not belong to any of the two conflicting worlds: not the Marxist one that used to be so prominent, nor the world of the bankers that rules today. However, he can see the destructive consequences through the windshield of his cab, and he keeps driving the old man around, hoping that he will remember where he is going.

Klemen Dvornik graduated in film and TV direction and directs fiction and documentary films, prime-time TV shows, commercials and music spots. He is the president of the Directors Guild of Slovenia (DSR).

THE SHAFT

by URBAN ZORKO

Jašek, April 2015, HD, 2.39:1, in colour, 22 min

It is Sunday and the city is dead. A postgraduate biopsychology student wakes up in a sewer shaft at an empty parking lot next to a mall. He doesn't know how or why. His screams summon the passersby, who establish that the shaft has been welded shut. They are full of ideas, advice... as well as pity and contempt. Nevertheless, the student is somehow useful to everybody.

However, he is in a hurry to get out, since an award or the peak of his studies awaits him as the most successful student: a discussion with the European authorities! The police and rescue service are allegedly on the way, but the evening keeps drawing nearer and it starts to rain. Finally the student finds out why he has ended up in the shaft.

Urban Zorko is an independent critic and publicist, screenwriter and director. He works in the context of the Smehomat production.

The protagonist of the documentary film for the EBU exchange is a 12-year-old boy Leon. He and his friend Jan, aged 12 as well, started to tend their own vegetable garden. After some radical gardening they wanted to sell their crops on a real farmers' market, under their own brand name.

While we focus on the two boys' unusual pursuit we also meet Leon's family and observe the way of living and working on a farm. It's very uplifting if you can fulfil your dreams. Leon and Jan are definitely good at that, as they are truly passionate about farming.

by GREGA MASTNAK

Mr. Black (pepper) is a cooking show host. With his guest Mr. White (salt) they are baking potica – the traditional Slovenian walnut roll. Mr. White explains the recipe precisely, while the animated characters based on kitchen utensils (old walnut grinder, ladle, etc.) carry out the instructions diligently. After a tough struggle they also manage to tame the oven Pehta and... the walnut roll is done!

The playful animated demonstration of how the Slovenian national pastry is made shows the young as well as the slightly older that everything can be interesting, fun and successful – all we need is a bit of imagination.

The director, screenwriter, actor, graphic designer, but primarily 2-D and 3-D animator Žiga Pokorn is a member of the postproduction house NuFrame, motivated by the wish to redefine the limits of animation and film communication.

THE LITTLE PRINCE

by MATEJ PELJHAN

Mali princ, 2015, DCP/BR/HDCam, 15 min

Luka is a 12-year-old boy suffering from muscular dystrophy. His body is deteriorating, he is weak and can barely move anymore. He needs assistance with even the basic chores like getting dressed, washing, and eating. He does not shy away from the truth, but he also refuses to be pitied or felt sorry for.

The only thing he can still cope with physically is to perform tiny but quite powerless finger motions. In this way he controls his electric wheelchair with a joystick and holds a pen, and this represents his contact with freedom and independence.

In a certain moment he starts drawing a red balloon, slowly but persistently and precisely. While drawing he imagines how the red balloon lifts him from his wheelchair and carries him into an imaginary world where he can walk, skate, play basketball, swim... Until he finally, without any regret, returns to his chair. Suddenly all of this actually happens – as if it was a miracle, which it isn't.

As a 10-year-old boy Matej Peljhan suffered a severe accident involving an explosive device, a remnant of World War II. He lost his right arm and an eye. Later he graduated in psychology and specialised in clinical psychology, a field he is still engaged in today as he works with children with special needs. In the Centre for Education, Rehabilitation and Training he met Luka...

PRINCE KI-KI-DO: THE SWAMP MONSTER

by GREGA MASTNAK

Princ Ki-Ki-Do: Pošasti iz močvirja, 2014, DCP, 16:9, in colour, 4:16 min

The inhabitants of a swamp are banished from their homes by a horrible howling monster. They seek help and shelter in the tower of Prince Ki-Ki-Do. Prince Ki-Ki-Do and his faithful friends Tine and Bine fearlessly fly into the murky swamp to confront the monster. The fog conceals many secrets, and it turns out that the monster is in fact an out-of-tune choir...

The Swamp Monster received the Award for Best Animated Film at the 2014 FSF.

After specialising in painting in Ljubljana, Grega Mastnak went on to study at the Department of Animated Film at FAMU. In the 21st century the renowned illustrator and cartoonist works primarily on animated series, simultaneously as a director, screenwriter and lead animator.

The first breath is a decision. Each subsequent breath is a struggle for a goal that remains unseen. A struggle for life. He is a former professional runner. A long-distance runner. He reveals his suffering, pain and effort, all of which are crucial elements of each and every race... Mirko Vindiš is the fastest man in Yugoslavia. Running is hard, even if you are the fastest man in Yugoslavia. But pleasure is what you find beyond the pain.

Peter Cerovšek, Nataša Čiča and Toma Zidič are brought together by their interest in film arts and filmmaking. The Luksuz produkcija production house operates in the context of the Society of Allies for Soft Landing, one of the pioneers of the democratisation of film as a medium and art form.

The workers' and mining facilities, characterising and changing Trbovlje for more than a century and a half, which have already been captured on camera in the previous films shot by EN-KNAP, have to face an uncertain future and the possibility of impending demolition. In this homage by the author Iztok Kovač to his birth town, the international dance company EnKnapGroup confronts the mining facilities for the last time, before they disappear from the collective consciousness forever. The parting is solemn: for the last time the members of the group fill these places with vitality and life as they experience it themselves.

After leaving UL AGRFT, Sašo Podgoršek has directed advertisements, music videos, dance and feature films. He has received several national and international awards for his films.

A young man works at a champagne production facility in the north of Slovenia. He has to turn thousands of bottles slightly by hand, giving them a twist. During this hypnotic work his mind starts to wander and images of privacy mix with short stories taking place in the factory and around it. A short film about work, suffering, life, success, pain and pleasure - champagne as a metaphor for hard labour and splendour, for tradition and future at the same time.

Harry Rag studied film directing at DFFB in Berlin. His full filmography includes 35 titles. His other work includes trailers and videos for Wim Wenders/Road Movies, Goethe-Institute Germany, Phonogram-Records, Mute Records, WDR, ZDF/3sat and music videos for Crime & the City Solution, Rausch, Dežurni Krivci and others.
