expected delivery: March 2017

Niko, 2017, fiction, DCP, 1:2.35, 20 min

At the age of 18, Nikolaj leaves the reformatory where he used to be quite popular. He was especially attached to the childcare worker Dimitrij. At home Nikolaj's father and his young wife are building a family house. The father makes an insensitive comment about his late wife, Nikolaj's mother, so the boy hits him over the head with a shovel. The father collapses and Nikolaj is convinced he is dead. The boy secretly returns to the reformatory where a celebration of Dimitrij's well-deserved retirement is taking place. Suddenly the police shows up. Nikolaj is convinced that Dimitrij betrayed him...

Andrej Košak (1965) was extremely successful already with his first film Outsider (1996): it was the biggest national hit in the 1990s, screened at more than 30 international film festivals where it received many awards, and it was also the Slovenian candidate for the foreign-language Academy Award. His other two feature films were internationally successful as well: Headnoise (2002) and The State of Shock

(2011). After his stay abroad he now returns to the Slovenian national film programme.

by Tomaž Gorkič

expected delivery: March 2017

Apoptoza, 2017, fiction, DCP, 1:2.35, 18:36 min

The future is controlled by the corporations.

With uncontrolled pollution humankind causes, among other disasters, an extreme food shortage. The Bionet corporation, which manages the entire planet and provides food – green crackers – has absolute control. As the population starts increasing again, Bionet decides to implement new measures in order to ensure food resources. Ivan, whose only vice is that he is destitute and thus only represents a ‘financial burden’, is selected for an experiment. In Bionet’s opinion the test is successful... But not as far as Ivan is concerned.

Director, screenwriter and editor Tomaž Gorkič (1974) works in the horror film genre. Some of his short films have travelled all over the world and received awards at various festivals. In 2015 Tomaž shot his first feature Idyll, one of just a few Slovenian horror films.

Jaz sem, 2017, fiction, DCP, 1:1.85, 15 min

It is the right time for individuals, you just have to have the courage.

Milan returns home, to his mother. He was in prison for stealing: his father was ill and the family needed money for alternative treatments they wanted to try. Milan's mother was forced to rent out their apartment and move into a garage. Milan tries to find work with the help of his friends, but things do not go as planned. One night he finds out that his mother is very ill as well. This brings back Milan's fears and he turns to what he knows. He decides to take the harder way: he knows it is time for something new and starts to believe that laws and people can change.

Petra Trampuž Bocevska (1972) has worked exclusively in the film industry for more than 20 years. She has participated in many Slovenian and foreign films. The short film I am is her debut as a director.

Moderne Kunst

by Marko Šantić

Moderne Kunst, 2016, fiction, DCP, 17:58 min

A comedy about a marital crisis through the prism of modern art.

Bojan and Ida enjoy a seemingly harmonious marriage, but without any physical contact. She is a housewife and he a security guard in a modern art gallery.

One day a precious phallic-shaped exhibit arrives to the gallery and Bojan is in charge of its safety. With its energy and symbolism the new exhibit soon upsets Bojan's marriage...

Marko Šantić (1983, hr) is a director, screenwriter and member of the European Film Academy. He brought attention to himself already with his first short film, Good Luck, Nedim! (2006), which was nominated for the European Film Academy Award and won the Best Short Film Award at the Sarajevo FF as well as the first student prize at the Tribeca FF. Today, after he has also made his first feature Seduce Me (2013), Šantić continues his tradition of successful screenings and awards at international film festivals.

Fishing

by Jan Cvitkovič

Ribolov, 2016, fiction, DCP, 1:1.85, 7:13 min

An elderly couple has been going to the edge of their world for years, to a brook that is in fact a reflection of their life. The metaphor of their life is actually a river where their catch is. The fish have apparently swum away but some of the life remains here. One take, one shot, one love.

Jan Cvitkovič (1966): "A few years ago I was completely overcome by the making of a haiku film (on the occasion of the Venice Film Festival's 70th anniversary), as I am convinced that this very poetic form is really close to the film expression that I have been looking for in the past and been able to capture in certain moments."

Jan has received numerous international awards both as director and screenwriter, including the Lion of the Future Prize, the Altadis - Best New Director Award, etc.

Good Luck, Orlo!

by Sara Kern

Srečno, Orlo!, 2016, fiction, DCP, 1:1.85, 13 min

Do we carry the age when our childhood ended with us until the last day?

A baby has died. Orlo (7) watches his parents being consumed with grief. In an attempt to make them happy and his family whole again, he does something unexpected.

Good Luck, Orlo! was premiered at the Venice FF 2016 and shown in the competition programme at the Valladolid IFF, among others.

Sara Kern (1989): "When my father was seven, his baby sister died. No one managed to talk to him about it. I wanted to make a film about how it feels to be alone among adults, who are struggling with something that they are not equipped for. I wanted to talk about this tragedy that has never been spoken of in my father's family. But I decided to do it their way – without using any words."

Sara is currently developing her first feature Ivana.

Fear

by Dejan Babosek

Strah, 2016, fiction, DCP, 1:2.35, 30 min

Kristjan, a seventeen-year-old boy from a quite liberal middle-class family, becomes hostile to foreigners due to a fight with Bosnian immigrants. As the flood of refugees and migrants starts pouring into Slovenia, he falls under the influence of rightist propaganda and joins a neo-Nazi group. One night Kristjan and his friends beat up a foreigner and his wife during a routine spraying of Nazi symbols graffiti. The man slips into a coma and the tragedy has catastrophic consequences for Kristjan and his family...

Dejan Babosek (1976) made his film debut with Exit. He has shot more than 300 music videos for well-known artists from Central Europe. Dejan started out as an assistant director and editor for several documentaries and promo videos, while he also worked as a writer for radio and television. Into the Blue

by Antoneta Alamat Kusijanović

V modrino (orig. U plavetnilo), 2017, fiction, DCP, 1:2.35, 19 min

Thirteen-year-old Julija and her mother flee their abusive household to find refuge on an idyllic Croatian island where Julija grew up. Emotionally scarred, Julija is desperate to reconnect with her best friend, Ana. However, Ana is in love with a boy and Julija is no longer a priority. Ana's mounting rejection reignites Julija's wounds and brings back her family history, awakening the monstrous violence she thought she has left behind.

The film was developed through the Berlinale Short Film Station and NISI MASA programmes.

Borders

by Damjan Kozole

Meje, 2016, documentary, DCP, 1:2.35, 10 min

24 October 2015, a beautiful autumn day in a picturesque setting. A crowd of refugees and migrants accompanied by soldiers and police officers make their way from the Schengen border between Slovenia and Croatia towards the refugee camp in Brežice. Suddenly, the landscape starts to appear less inviting than it used to.

www.vertigo.si/en/filmi/meje

Damjan Kozole (1964): "In 2002 I made a feature film about two traffickers smuggling people into the EU. Thirteen years later I decided to shoot a short film about processions of refugees crossing the very same border in the company of the police and soldiers carrying automatic rifles. When dealing with such a delicate subject, the author must consider the ethics of 'directing'. I decided for a 'no directing' approach - I used a static, 'Lumiere-style' camera, without any direction or editing. Like an eerie remake of The Arrival of a Train."

Damjan is a distinguished Slovenian filmmaker whose directing credits began with the critically-acclaimed Spare Parts (2003), nominated for the Golden Bear at the Berlin IFF. In 2008 Sight & Sound ranked this work among the ten most important films of the New Europe. His ninth live-action feature, Nightlife, premiered in the competition programme of the Karlovy Vary IFF 2016, where it received the Best Director Award. Borders started its tour of the film festivals at the Sarajevo FF 2016, where it received the Human Rights Award; while at the FSF 2016 it received the Award for Best Documentary.

Koyaa [series]

by Kolja Saksida

expected delivery: March 2017

Koyaa [serija], 2017, slapstick puppet animation, no dialogues, DCP

Koyaa struggles with mischievous everyday objects in the company of his trusty old friend, the Raven.

Kolja Saksida (1981) "Koyaa's adventures revolve around objects that come to life and act wacky, leading to various comical situations. Koyaa uses his imagination to solve the problems caused by the naughty items in clever and unexpected ways. His slapstick humour is reminiscent of classical physical comedy, and his childlike perception of the world he lives in is funny and extraordinary."

Kolja has been deeply involved in filmmaking, directing, production and education since forever. In 2014 he acquired his master's degree in Film Studies from the ECAL/Ecole cantonale d'art de Lausanne. Kolja is the founder and director of ZVVIKS, a production house specializing in the realisation of original animated films and cultural education projects in the field of animated film.

Weasel

by Timon Leder

Podlasica, 2016, 2D computer animation, no dialogue, DCP, 16:9, 11:35 min

The weasel is hungry. It attacks a flock of birds that live in the last remaining tree. The birds defend themselves, keeping the tree in balance, entertained by the weasel's clumsy attempts. But the weasel's belly keeps rumbling louder and louder...

Timon Leder (1986) works in the field of animation and education. He completed his studies at the Ljubljana Academy of Fine Arts and Design in France, at the ESAG Penninghen School of Design, Graphic Art and Interior Architecture, and at the La Poudrière animation school. His debut film Work (with Urban Breznik) has been screened at more than 25 festivals worldwide. Timon's opus encompasses nine original films, a thesis on children's comprehension of animated language of cinema, and – in collaboration with other authors – the first Slovenian reference book on animation for schools.

Farewell

by Leon Vidmar

Slovo, 2016, puppet animation, DCP, 5:51 min

Lovro is tired and sad. He fills a bathtub with water, looking at droplets dripping from the tap. As one of them hits the water surface, Lovro is reminded of the day he first went fishing with his grandpa. His thoughts take him to a fish pond, and the bathroom sounds and objects bring back memories of that day: putting a black worm on the hook, getting tangled in his grandpa's line, driving to the pond in a beaten old car, catching a fish for the first time and seeing it die. Memory and reality merge into one.

Leon Vidmar (1980) graduated from the Academy of Fine Arts and Design, Ljubljana, with the animation short (In)tolerance. He collaborated as animator on Boles, a Cartoon d'Or-nominated puppet animation by Špela Čadež, as well as on Koyaa – Flower as assistant animator.

Mr. Philodendron and The Apple Tree

by Grega Mastnak

Gospod Filodendron in Jablana, 2016, 2D computer animation, no dialogues, DCP, 16:9, 6:30 min

Mr. Philodendron wants to enjoy the afternoon in his garden, but the animals and plants give him a hard time.

The pilot episode of an animated children's and youth series based on the well-known stories by Andrej Rozman Roza. The main character perceives the world through the eyes of a child. He doesn't know a lot, so he reacts to the world differently than people with experience. In his innocent way of seeing things, he tries to catch the sun in a box using a mirror, chases after the moon so he could play football with it...

After specializing in painting in Ljubljana, Grega Mastnak (1969) went on to study at the Department of Animated Film at Famu (cz). After the turn of the century, the renowned illustrator and cartoonist has worked primarily on animated series, simultaneously as a director, screenwriter and lead animator.

Prince Ki-Ki-Do [series]

by Grega Mastnak

Princ Ki-Ki-Do [serija], 2016, 2D computer animation, no dialogues, 2D DCP, 16:9, c

A little chick called Prince Ki-Ki-Do lives on top of a stone tower in a dark forest. He's as small as Calimero but as strong as Hercules, fighting fearlessly for the rights of the forest creatures alongside his two companions, tiger mosquitoes Tine and Bine.

Grega Mastnak (1969): "Prince Ki-Ki-Do is an animated series for pre-school children. Its short form, adjusted tempo and directing approach are adapted to young audiences. The straightforward story is introduced through visual language without dialogue."

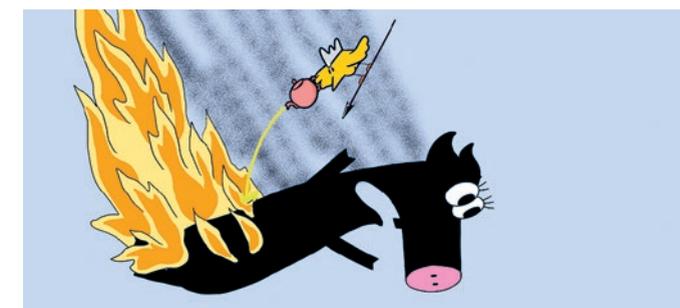

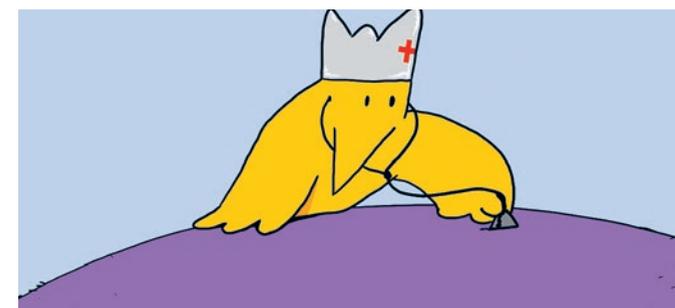

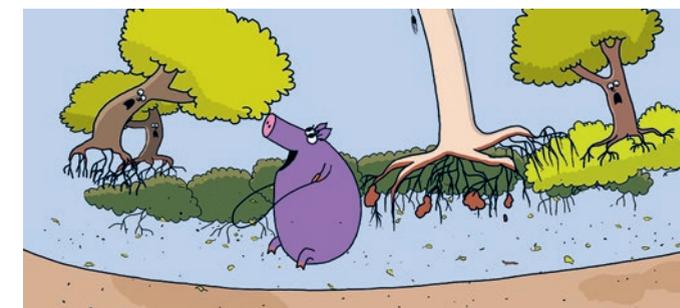

Between 2003 and 2009 Grega authored the widely acclaimed animated series The Beezes. He has worked on the Prince Ki-Ki-Do series since 2013. See also p 25.

CREATIVITY WAS FIRST!

Although we may never know for certain the origin of the universe and life on our planet, over time we have learned that the world is driven by creation and cooperation. That is why creativity should be promoted and protected.

In Slovenia, we have built a home for authors, producers and performers engaged in the creation of audiovisual works, in which we have been looking after the collective administration of their copyrights for six years.
